Mr. Torres,
Here is all the hearing transcripts. Volume 4 - PDF pgs 45 on is most interesting. But lots of great info throughout.
Reminder- Cone of influence went from 150 ft. to 750' to 3000' up to possibilities of 10,000' (brought out in hearing only). I truly feel this is another case of the TCEQ involvement beyond just permitting. You will also find under Lou Ross testimony (CEO of Texcom) where he talks about TCEQ helping during the sale of the property? Did not think they were allowed to do that.
Also, we met with Texcom a couple weeks ago and Mr. Ross again said that when they were looking to purchase this property they met with TCEQ and they assured him permitting would be no problem and there would be no opposition!!!
Where in the H_LL do they have the right to say ANYTHING of this nature to ANY company looking to permit an injection well.....PERIOD!!! The madness has to STOP and the EPA MUST STOP IT NOW!!!
I know you are aware of the issues with injection wells in Texas but ALL the issues with the TCEQ?. They are getting worse...Abbott vs Abbot...crazy. If you are not aware of Abbott vs Abbot then let me know and I will let you know. Another act of not following the rules. The TCEQ is untouchable and they know it and act it.
If you would like pretrial testimony I have all of that as well.
You can also reference www.wpja.com The Woodlands Water district website for their info on this matter. They have already spent $400,000.00 and will continue to spend millions to fight. Why....because all the experts (except for Texcoms..of course) show the evidence to prove this is a bad location with a very high risk of contamination of the aquifers that supply millions of people with water.

We are already feeling the economic impact many already have to disclose this potential hazard. Many buyers are backing out of contracts to purchase homes. Trend Maker homes a huge developer is on board and working with other developers in how they need to get involved to stop the madness. FYI a brand new subdivision is going in as we speak of 600+ homes less right at 1 mile mark from site....home to be sold for 300,000.00 plus....that will be a huge loss. The new school to be built is less than 1.5 miles from site. Not to mention the already existing thousand+ homes right around the site within the 2 miles and the Thousands (8000-10000 my guess) within 5 miles that ALL will have to disclose the injection well site....Montgomery county was one the fastest and largest growing counties in Texas and for that matter in the US....do you think that will continue?
